From classic favorites to new adventures in creative cuisine, he combines 23+ years of the highest quality culinary experience with a down-to-earth approach that delivers a breath of fresh air to full-service catering.

While many chefs have only recently discovered the idea of "green cuisine"—free range, organic, small producers, local farms and sustainable products—Chef Layne has embraced this powerful concept throughout his career.

"Using only the best, most wholesome ingredients is the cornerstone of Coast Catering," notes Layne. "I've followed this philosophy automatically as a creative chef looking to give our clients the best possible dining experience."

Coast Catering offers full-service event planning and custom catering for every occasion.
